Architecture is the creativity, the art which we live in, which gives us an identity, an address. Since this form of art is really incorporated into our lives, I was fascinated by architecture in my high schools and wanted to pursue it as my carrier. After I passed 12th I took admission in 'Guwahati college of architecture', a premier institute of north east India. We are the 2nd batch of this college and in the years the college has grown tremendously. The infrastructure of our college is very attractive. The in-house and the experienced visiting faculties from different parts of India provide a friendly atmosphere, to make us familiar with the magic of architecture. The collection of books in the library provides an insight to the world architecture and different advancement in this field. The college is trying to provide all modern amenities to the students. As the students spend most of their time in the college, they are blended with architecture which leads them to fulfill their career needs. Architects have the power to change the face of earth...they not only provide house but also a home to a person. Guwahati college of architecture shapes us to become a committed architect of the future...
